

WORLD BOOK Illustrations by David Cunningham

Many New Products came into use during the period of industrialization. Their manufacture and sale contributed greatly to the economic boom. Some of the new products are shown above.

Tribune Centennial Photo.

... WITH FRINGE ON TOP

Today's '47 Photo Recalls Good Old Days of Surrey

This family portrait was different. It might have been made this way for the benefit of two members who were absent. In one shot are the important things that would bring to mind those two boys' most vivid memories of far away Utah.

In it, too, are the things nearest to a man's heart in those days. Perhaps men haven't really changed much in the last half a century, but that was when they were more likely to admit great pride in a large family, a fine home and good swift horses to pull a shiny "buggy with a fringe on top."

Served Seven Terms

Under the derby hat stands a man who represented Utah in Congress for 14 years, the late Joseph Howell, a Cache county businessman. Mr. Howell was elected to seven terms in the U. S. house of representatives and served from 1902 to 1916.

The proud little girl with the bicycle is now Mrs. Preston D. Richards, Los Angeles. The baby in the high wheeled carriage became an attorney, Wesley G. Howell, 1330 Roosevelt ave. Mrs. David I. Stoddard, La Grande, Ore., was the girl standing in front of the horses.

Entrusted with the team's reins was serious faced Reese M. Howell, later a West Point graduate, veteran of both world wars and in the second a brigadier general commanding First army artillery in Africa, Sicily and Europe. He recently retired and now resides in North Hollywood, Cal.

Others in Buggy

Also in the buggy were girls who are now Mrs. Ralph Smith,

Los Angeles, and Mrs. Spencer P. Felt, 115 Virginia st. The congressman's wife, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Maughan, is holding on to the buggy "headlight."

Upstairs on the balcony at left the fashionably dressed young lady became Mrs. Lewis Telle Cannon, 376-2nd ave., and on the balcony at right are Luther Howell, 136 E. South Temple, and Leone Maughan, a relative who lived with the Howell family.

William M. Howell, 106 G st., was a missionary in England, and Joseph M. Howell, Los Angeles, was studying engineering in New York City when this unusual old time "portrait" was taken. The picture was submitted by one of Congressman Howell's grandsons, Richard L. Howell, 127 N. 2nd West, Logan.

